

MASSMU[™]
MASSILLON MUSEUM

ArtsinStark

Massillon
City of Champions

Massillon Public Art Project: Street Signs

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

James Duncan, Massillon's founder

2013

Heather Bullach

James and his wife Eliza founded the city of Massillon in 1826. The Massillon Museum, formerly located in the Duncan home, is now the site of the Massillon Public Library.

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

Lillian Gish, actress

2013

Scot Phillips

Gish began acting onstage as a child, and became a star of the silent film era. Her career spanned 75 years, still performing in her nineties. During her time between films, she would sometimes visit her aunt in Massillon.

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

Margy Vogt, historian

2013

Scot Phillips

Author, photographer, and local historian Margy Vogt is the former Registrar and current Public Relations Coordinator for the Massillon Museum. She also works closely with many local institutions, historic sites, and organizations to promote and preserve our heritage.

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

Tommy Henrich, baseball player
2013

Painted as part of a public workshop by Massillon Museum visitors and Intern Alexander Myers

Nicknamed “Old Reliable,” Henrich played for the New York Yankees as a right fielder and helped to bring the team to seven World Series championships.

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

Jacob Coxey, activist

2013

Painted by Massillon Museum Intern Alexander Myers

Coxey is credited with having lead the first protest march in the United States in 1894. Taking “Coxey’s Army” on foot from Massillon to Washington, D.C., he protested unemployment and lobbied for job creation. Running for political seats many times, his only elected office was Mayor of Massillon in 1931.

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

Oscar the Skeleton

2013

Painted as part of a public workshop by Massillon Museum visitors and Intern Alexander Myers

While not a native Massillonian, Oscar has become a part of the city's historical fabric, on display in the Massillon Museum since 1934. Many Museum visitors have participated in the tradition of "daring" to open Oscar's cabinet door. Will you dare to visit him on the Lower Level of the Museum?

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

Paul Brown, professional football coach

2013

Tim Carmany

Paul Brown was the legendary football coach for the Massillon Tigers from 1932-1940. He also coached Ohio State, the Cleveland Browns, and Cincinnati Bengals. Brown is recognized as a "Hometown Hall of Famer" by the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

Caroline McCullough Everhard, women's rights activist

2013

Tim Carmany

Everhard fought for the women's right to vote starting in the 1890s. She held many leadership roles in her community not usually accessible to women, including bank president. She was also president of the Ohio Women's Suffrage Association and organized the Equal Rights Association of Canton.

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

Robert Pinn, African American Civil War soldier

2013

Thomas Heaton

Robert Pinn joined the first black Ohio regiment of the Union Army in 1864. On April 6, 1865, he was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, the Army's highest military award for bravery in combat, for his leadership in the battle of Chaffin's Farm. He became a lawyer after the war and was the first African American admitted to the Stark County Bar Association in 1879.

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

Nell Dorr, photographer

2013

Thomas Heaton

Dorr was born in 1895. Her father operated a photography studio in Massillon, and at the age of twelve she learned to mix photo chemicals. Dorr went on to have an internationally recognized career as a photographer.

This public art project is brought to you by ArtsinStark, the City of Massillon, and the Massillon Museum, inspired by the exhibition, Snap! In the Photobooth with Andy Warhol & Friends.

